L-LYSINE

An essential amino acid that forms the basis of collagen and ensures skin firmness and elasticity. It promotes tissue regeneration and serves as natural support against herpes outbreaks.

VITAMIN C

A powerful antioxidant that stimulates collagen synthesis and protects cells from damage caused by UV radiation and stress. Helps achieve a homogeneous skin tone, reducing pigmentation and giving a healthy glow.

BAMBOO EXTRACT

One of the richest sources of natural silica, which strengthens skin structure and improves moisture retention. Reduces the appearance of fine lines and maximises collagen production by working in synergy with vitamin C.

ZINC

An essential mineral for cell regeneration, which helps control inflammation and regulate sebaceous gland function. Particularly effective in the event of acne and rosacea, as it inhibits bacterial growth and reduces skin irritation.

TURMERIC EXTRACT

Thanks to curcuminoids, it has a strong anti-inflammatory effect that soothes problematic skin. It neutralises free radicals and helps to restore a naturally homogeneous skin colour.

BLACK PEPPER EXTRACT

The active ingredient piperine acts as a catalyst of efficiency by increasing the absorption of turmeric and other ingredients by up to 2000%. This ensures that every DERMOKLER ingredient is used to maximum effect.

synergy of active ingredients – why the combination works better

COMBINATION OF INGREDIENTS	MAIN EFFECTS ON SKIN HEALTH	HOW THE COMBINATION WORKS
Vitamin C + L-lysine	The key to collagen synthesis	Vitamin C activates the involvement of L-lysine in collagen production, strengthening the structure of the skin. Without vitamin C, L-lysine is not fully utilised.
Vitamin C + silica	Flexibility and retention of moisture	Vitamin C promotes cell regeneration, while bamboo silica strengthens the structural integrity of skin cells, helping to retain moisture and elasticity. Silica strengthens cell structure, while vitamin C assists cell renewal.
Curcuminoid + Piperine	Absorption of active substances	Piperine improves the bioavailability of curcumin by up to 2000%, significantly enhancing its anti-inflammatory and antioxidant effects.
Zinc + curcuminoids	Anti-inflammatory effect	Zinc reduces acne and inflammatory processes, while turmeric soothes irritated skin. Together, they promote the cleansing and healing of the skin.
Silica + zinc	Restoration of structure and barrier function	Restoration of structure and barrier function Silica strengthens the cellular structure of the skin and helps retain moisture, while zinc is essential for DNA replication and cell renewal. The combination of the two substances helps the regeneration and strengthening of the protective barrier of the skin.
Silica + Vitamin C + L-Lysine	Collagen “super-trio”	A powerful synergy for collagen production, skin elasticity and cell protection.
Turmeric + Piperine + Vitamin C + Zinc + L-Lysine + Silica	A “super-formula” for reducing skin inflammation and protection against it	A combination of complexes that simultaneously reduce inflammation, support collagen synthesis, and improve elasticity and barrier function.
